

The First Prayer in Congress

selves that they shall make easy prey of this numerous, brave and hardy people," those "who are qualified themselves with the art of war as soon as possible, and do for that purpose appear under arms at least once a year." The Association also resolved to petition the House of Commons to forbid the import of British goods after December 1, 1774, and the export of American goods to Great Britain and the West Indies after September 10, 1775, aroused severe opposition but it has been called "virtually the first federal union."

Midshipman Weinel 1936 Honor Graduate

of the United States Naval academy Annapolis this year, having the high marks in the graduating class.

Destructive Storm Hits Detroit

Two lives were lost and much property damaged by a wind storm which swept the city of Detroit. The photograph shows a large barn wrecked by sixty-mile gale.

—of the Continental forces since June 15, 1775. At the time of the Declaration, Washington was in the field and "Agreeable to the order of the day, the Congress resolved itself into a Fourth and three Presidents, John Adams, Thomas Jefferson and James Monroe, died on July 4. Adams and Jefferson dying on the same date is their farther consideration, the declaration. The president resumed the chair. Mr. Harrison reported that the committee of the whole Congress have agreed to a Declaration, which he delivered in. The Declaration being again read, was agreed to."

The Declaration received the votes of all the Continental Congress. New York, whose delegates were not then authorized to commit themselves on the matter, A short time later was so authorized and also sanctioned it. At the July 4 session, after agreement had been reached, the Congress ordered that it be printed and copies sent to the States, the Continental Congress, the Continental Congress, and to the commanding officers of the Continental troops and that it be proclaimed in each of the United States, and at the head of the army. It was signed the same day by John Hancock, as president of the Congress. The other signatures, however, were not inscribed on the original text. That text was copied on parchment, and on August 2 the formality of signing took place. Fifty-three signed that day; three signed the following day; and the next day, Congress, seven were not members of the Congress on July 4 when the Declaration was signed. The signatures were present on that historic day, seven never signed the document. The Declaration was first published in public on July 8, when it was read from the balcony of the Old State House in Independence Square, in 1776.

THE Declaration was not adopted by the Continental Congress until at-

[illegible]

Presidents and the Fourth

Data of things that happened on the Fourth of July reveal that one President, Calvin Coolidge, was born on the Fourth and three Presidents, John Adams, Thomas Jefferson and James Monroe, died on July 4. Adams and Jefferson dying on the same date in 1826.

By Channing Pollock

Copyright, Channing Pollock
WNU service

me last Friday. And Willets said, "That isn't true. A gentleman's word is his bond, and I'm a man of a tradition stronger than we are." Pat turned, at last.

"You're a lady," she said, "and it is funny, he lost her short."

"He behaved like a lord, and I can't say," Willetts said. "I'm a gentleman." "I'm the scum of the sea," Willetts said. "You're a lady. How at last?"

"If it were only me," she broke in, "I'd be a lady's gentleman."

"About him?"

Before she could reply, the door opened, and Judge Hamblidge was standing there erect and soldier-like.

"What's this?" he said. "I release you from your promise. Me. I can't go through with it. Me. I'm a gentleman."

He turned squarely to Barry.

"You're right about everything. About the money. About the money. And the reason I won't. He let me go. He let me go. He let me go. So violently that he took a wreck of his desk drawer and kept it in his house. But he was wrong. I left one thing. Mr. Gilbert. I left it. Kely wasn't alive."

avenue. At nine o'clock, I gave decision to my clerk, and told him

They were a curiously inert group for a minute or two after revelation.

It was like a play, Barry thought curdled down on a climax, and the actors relaxing until it should rise for the next scene.

After a time, Barry crossed the room to the pair.

Pat turned on him.

"Well, now you know," she said.

"You know about us, but remember we know about you, too," said Barry.

She was herself again; hard and faint.

Ignoring her, for the moment, he asked the Judge, "Do you want to see what happened?"

"I wrote my opinion in the Journal street proceedings, and then, as you say, I couldn't get through it. I'd never done a crooked thing in my life. I don't know how I

"It's Not a Criminal's Crime," says Barry Answered.

speech at the Astor. The was finished, I telephoned id better come down and crushed Kelly's skull was a cut decanter containing rye whiskey.
"In the five minutes you were s

"Of course, it would have been better for anyone to have been there," said Kelly. "I just got out of the Twenty-third street. As I told you, Kelly, I was in a pretty bad drink and in a bad temper, and the matter with you? he asked me, 'What's the matter with you?' 'Whipped? Here; take a and forget it.'"

"You had a bottle on the way and two glasses. Both of 'em been used, but he half-filled 'em up with whisky. He said, 'You can't drink Scotch—never co told Kelly so, and he blazed away at me two good long years— is that it?'"

"No, I answered: 'that's the way it was, but I don't know I simply can't. Mr. Kelly, it's me and everyone knows it. I've come to the end of my rope.'"

"And I've got something pocket," he shouted—""

"For over an hour, I plead guilty. And Kelly kept going on and on, and in a few minutes, with a bull neck, and huge bag last, he said, 'Shut your mouth, you son of a bitch.'"

"I said, 'I'm not going, and I won't get out of here.'"

"No," he sneered, and got up and went out."

great, old-fashioned desk, revolver. 'Now, beat it,' he damned quick!

"All right," I said, "but I want that decision."

"I walked into the hall, and stood, leaning against the door, with the pistol in his hand, so furious I half expected him to shoot. I could get my hat. 'You think you can scare me,' he shouted. 'The Globe. You think you got something on me. Witnesses. S

By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D. D.,
Member of Faculty, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.
© Western Newspaper Union.

Lesson for July 5

THE COMING OF THE HOLY SPIRIT IN POWER

LESSON TEXT—Acts 1:6-9;

GOLDEN TEXT—But ye shall receive power, when ye shall have been baptized with the Holy Spirit; and ye shall witness unto me in all Judea, and Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth.—Acts 1:8.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Keeps His Promise

JUNIOR TOPIC—A Promise Made Is Always Kept

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPICS—The Coming of the Holy Spirit • The Promises of God • Assurance • Empowering People and ADULT TOPIC—Empowered for the World Task

I. The Missionary Program (1:3-9)

The work incumbent upon the Church is witnessing to Christ's gracious invitation to all men. As Jesus said, "If you do, there will follow the preaching of the gospel of the kingdom by you." (Matt. 24:14). This was not clear to the disciples, therefore they put a question, "Will thou at this time set apart unto us apostles?" (v. 25). David Kingdon after the establishment of the Church asked the same question, but not until after the baptism of the Holy Spirit did he begin to answer it.

The eyes of the bookmaker

[illegible]

"That's the hell of it,"
"I practically underwrote

[illegible]

save money by letting me
and then contribute $3,000
support.—Pathfinder Maga-

Bit by Bit
Unseen by the referee, wrestler bit his opponent's arm.
"You're biting," hissed the referee.
"Well," gasped his adversary, "I expect me to swallow yer innards!"
—Bystander Magazine.

Cool Shirtwaister For Busy Women

Every wardrobe demands at least one frock always on call ready

Instant duty. Here is such a pattern—a most attractive and serviceable one—new and fluting version of the ever-popular shirtwaist type with a clever matched collar, short sleeves, simple set-in sleeves, a buttoned placket, a belt, and a plaid skirt with two quick pleats in front and a center seam ending under the belt.

Simplicity is its keynote and charm. You'll find it in every woman's wardrobe. Make it in any material you desire or silk.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 180 is available in sizes: 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Corresponding measurements are given in inches.

Size 16 (34) requires 4 yards of material. Send 15 cents in postage.

The Summer Pattern Book containing 100 Barbara Bell well-planned, easy-to-make patterns is ready for mailing.

Send your order, The Sewing Circle Pattern Dept., 247 W. W. Third St., Chicago, Ill. 60601.

© Bell Syndicate—WNSU Service

qual
sive
It
ecafact t o^e for 2.

perpped
ition,
erous

TH gnesia
acids,
Each
mag-
here.